We spoke to 5 youth at length in a group meeting.
San Mateo County Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Commission
Juvenile Hall and Camp Inspection Report

They would like to see more sports and more cardio – they mentioned that they used to have morning workouts but don't anymore. Would also like more time to practice sports and focus on individual skills.

The young men mentioned wanting more 1:1 help in school (more tutoring). Right now they are only tutored for math and they wanted tutoring in English and other subjects. They said that for Special Education they only were only pulled out of class once a week (where at the hall they were pulled out every day). We later spoke to staff who reported that special education is now incorporated into their regular classroom day so that students are no longer pulled out of class as often. The youth also reported that they all do the same work, regardless of ability or level. One youth wanted more non-fiction in English as well as more information about current events, state history and Latino studies.

The youth felt that there was more restriction at Glenwood than at YSC on what books they could have. One young man wanted to bring the Art of War but was not allowed to have it. They requested more access to the books in the resource room. They need more books in the library and suggested that one of the KPs could be the librarian. They would also like to do study hall in the resource room and to be able to use computers for research. The JJDPC followed up with Glenwood staff on book restrictions and we were told that “We don't allow books that are sexually explicit or that are gang related. There are very few books we don't allow.” In further follow up, one member of staff said “I know that if a youth wants to read a book and it has some questionable material I will say turn in a book report on it and I will give them a treat if they do. I want them to read it and learn and discuss. Rather than reading and just filling their head with violence and crime.” This sounds like a reasonable approach and we recommend that something like this be adopted as policy if it is not already.

Drawing: One youth was frustrated that he could not draw more – he said he was very restricted because of gang issues and he wanted more freedom of expression. He said that to staff, everything is gang-related. He would like an art program to develop skills. We followed up with staff who said “We have a pretty good idea about it when they put 4 stars in the sky or 3 lines on a car what they are doing. We encourage drawing but they try to put their symbols in different ways. Having a discussion is the best way to have them explain the meanings of things and if it makes sense we allow it. The problem is that some youth want to be able to draw the Huega Bird and say it’s not gang related when in all my years of experience that is a known symbol for the Norteno street gang.”

There were several complaints about the soap and toiletries. One young man said he was not allowed to have his special acne soap and said that the soap at Glenwood gives him acne. Another had acne that looked bad enough to cause scarring. He ran out of his acne medication and it took a while to get more. It was unclear to us if this was a planning problem on his part or something else. They said there is a process for approving toiletries from home but that staff doesn’t often say yes. A member of our inspection team followed up with staff. They said that if there is any kind of prescribed medication, it is not a problem. The soap would be held in unit and given to the youth for him to use. They don’t generally let them bring own soap (neutogena) to ensure that things are not altered. They also said that filled prescriptions are brought in by family.

YSC Medical: The youth said that there have been times when the staff takes them over to YSC for medical but they did not get services because YSC said they did not have an appointment. They expressed frustration at missing school for nothing. One youth said that he was at YSC for 3 days – and missed school for that time. Nurses used to come twice a week but now the nurse only comes once a week. We discussed this with Glenwood staff and they said that they are often told of appointments the day or week before and they transport them up to the YSC when they are supposed to be there. They leave a camp at 7:45 to ensure that they are there on time, but YSC medical staff does not arrive until 9am. If the dentist calls in sick, for example, the youth may already be at YSC. They leave early so they can be the first ones the doctor/dentist sees before the rest of the YSC sees them.

The youth complained that they have too much time sleeping – 9:15am lights out (though they can read until 10pm) and then wakeup at 7:45am during the week and 8:30am on weekends. If they wake up early, they said they cannot read or do anything else. They also complained that the morning was rushed as they had only 15 minutes to get ready. We asked Glenwood about this and they said that they are planning on bringing back morning exercise when they implement the new camp program. This would increase their exercise time and reduce their sleeping time.

Youth reported getting one 5 minute phone call a week. At the Hall, they got two. According to staff, youth get one phone call per week and staff are allowed to give kids phone calls to the youth any day of the week as needed. Upon further followup, staff reported that youth get two phone calls per week.

The youth expressed a preference (which they said applied to many of the youth at camp) for talking to female mental health clinicians. They were less comfortable talking to male clinicians. Any changes to this would need to be handled by BHRS.

They complained about the new socks – said they are loose with holes in them. Staff reported that they tell the boys to throw out socks and other clothing that has holes and regularly add new clothing into their stock.

Under what circumstances can programming be suspended? Happens rarely. Would happen if there was significant gang tension with likelihood of violence among multiple youth.

How many days since last inspection has programming as a whole been suspended? Staff reported 4 to 5 days. Typically only happens when a fight or AWOL occurs. The program will be shut down until the situation is controlled.

Comments: Staff report that about 90% of youth at camp leave with jobs. Staff help them apply for the jobs on-line and take them to their job interviews. The younger boys (14 and 15) sometimes have a hard time getting jobs because of their age. They are sometimes released without having jobs lined up.

Discipline of Youth (Section 1390, 1391)

Describe the discipline process of youth: Probation is in the process of redesigning the Glenwood program, but it has not been implemented yet. They use a point system to earn privileges but points are no longer as crucial for home passes. They are trying to use other ways to motivate the youth. More is considered in deciding their release – they need to take certain classes and have to have a transition plan in place. The minimum stay is 26 weeks. When they have had three successful 12-hour home passes they get 24-hour passes. When they’ve had four successful 24-hour passes, they get 48-hour passes.

When are searches of youth conducted (Section 1360)?  When youth come back to the facility after leaving the grounds and after family visits.

Discipline Summary and Comments: Youth complained that they get sent to the hall for name-calling, swearing, or a threatening posture. They thought those kinds of behaviors could be dealt with at Camp. We followed up with staff who replied “We have reduced our number of HCDs tremendously in the last couple of years. We don’t send youth out for name calling. If it is an aggressive comment or security threat is when we would remove a youth from camp. With our redesign we are looking to handle most of our discipline issues in house.”

Grievances (Section 1361)

Describe the Grievance Process: ☑ Acceptable □ Unacceptable: They have access to forms in their sections. They place them in the Grievance Box. The ISMs check the box daily and assign the grievances to a GS3 or ISM who meets with the young man to try and resolve the issue. Youth can appeal to Rod Moore or Christine Villanis if they are unsatisfied with the outcome of the meeting.

The youth interviewed said that the GSM/ISM talk to the youth about their grievances, but the GSM/ISM always backs up staff. They complain that nothing gets done/changed. We noticed that there were only 15 grievances. Staff reported that “many times the youth talk about an issue with the staff and try to argue or justify behavior that was not appropriate” and that often the youth will “want the grievance torn up after they have ‘shopped’ other staff to see if they will favor their side.”

Number of grievances since last inspection: 15

Are youth given access to Computers/Internet? ☑ Yes □ No Details (when, for what purpose, supervision): While this is still a work in progress, at the present time, students do have access to computers and the Internet as deemed appropriate by school staff. The school’s network currently has in place a filter system as well as a program that tracks individual search histories. Campus-wide wireless access is virtually complete and an acceptable use policy is expected to be completed and implemented by the fall.

Describe the relationship between school and juvenile hall staff: Currently, probation staff members are present in each classroom at all times. That being said, the relationship between probation staff and school personnel appears to be appropriate, positive and very effective.

Describe access to school, recreation, etc. for youth confined to their rooms: Not necessary at Glenwood as all youth attend class regularly.
When is school held on the unit instead of in the classroom? Never.

Post High School/GED:

Are there educational opportunities available for youth who have completed high school or their GED? ☑ Yes □ No  Describe: Several educational opportunities for such youth are available through the Glenwood program. Through the Project Change program, students who have completed either diploma work or have completed the GED, are eligible to enroll at the College of San Mateo, through which they can take a “College Orientation Course” that will earn them college credits. Upon release from the Camp, students can utilize the Project Change Program at CSM to access mentoring services and the early class selection process.

Are youth given information/counseling about financial aid options for college? ☑ Yes □ No  Describe: Students considering college attendance are provided counseling regarding financial aid options through the “Project Change” program, which also offers a yearly “FAFSA Day” that is designed to focus on access to various financial aid programs.

Are youth able to take courses for college credit online? □ Yes ☑ No  Describe: Not at the present time. However, such a program is currently under discussion.

Special Education/IEP Programs:

How many youth in the facility have an Individualized Education Program (IEP)?  While this is number can vary, as of May 10, 2016, 9 of 18 students have active IEP documents.

Do credentialed special education teachers participate in lesson planning and curriculum development? ☑ Yes □ No  Camp Glenwood maintains a “push-in” special education model, that finds the school’s Resource Specialist teacher in the general education classroom assisting students with identified special needs. Evidence reveals that the Resource Specialist teacher and the general education teachers collaborate frequently regarding student progress and curriculum design.

Are regular IEP meetings held? ☑ Yes □ No  Describe: IEP meetings are held in accordance with legal timelines and are conducted at the Youth Services Center in San Mateo, rather than at the Camp in La Honda. IEP meetings are chaired by the Resource Teacher and are attended by the student’s parents, case manager, representatives from administration and general education, as well as the student.

Are parents notified of these meetings? ☑ Yes □ No  In writing, as required by the Education Code.

Are parents permitted to attend these meetings? ☑ Yes □ No

Describe the most common obstacle to IEP compliance: The most common obstacle to convening a complete and legally compliant IEP team is scheduling. Because of transportation issues and/or work schedules, many parents find it difficult to attend IEP meetings. At the same time, convening all necessary personnel at the same time and place is a significant challenge.

Summary and Comments:

A review of evidence reveals that the staff and administration of the Glenwood school remain firmly committed to maintaining a supportive and challenging academic environment and to providing a positive and appropriate educational experience for all students. In order to effectively further this commitment, school staff is scheduled to participate in a summer “Boot Camp” program, offered by Summit Schools. Utilizing an online tool developed by Facebook, Glenwood staff, along with other educators from around the country, will be focusing on the further development and full implementation of the Personalized Learning program.

Describe availability of Medical Health Services (how do youth request/receive care) Youth use medical request forms. Nurse checks the box once a week. For more urgent problems, they will call the medical staff.
San Mateo County Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Commission
Juvenile Hall and Camp Inspection Report

Describe availability of Dental Services (maintenance, for emergencies) Dental services are provided by YSC for maintenance and emergencies. Medical staff informs them when youth need to come in. For emergencies, they call YSC.

Describe Medication Access & Distribution (Section 1438, 1439): Lead GS staff distributes regular medication. Staff cannot distribute over-the-counter (OTC) medication. Nurse must authorize OTC meds. Staff will call YSC with symptoms and nurse will tell them what to do (authorize OTC medications, for example). Nurse is available until 10pm. After 10 pm the youth is taken to Chope if necessary.

Describe 24/7 on-call emergency medical and health services. They will call an ambulance. They also call YSC and, if appropriate to treat the youth at YSC, accompany the youth to YSC. The youth may then spend the night at YSC until the next pick up.

Medical Health Summary and Comments: Youth would like their own hygiene products. One said that the soap they are provided exacerbates his acne. Another said that his acne medication is not always provided.

Mental Health Services (Section 1437)

Describe the Mental Health Staffing (number, qualifications): They have a PT (> half time) mental health clinician, which staff reports is OK for the number of youth they have now. Star Vista also provides classes and one-on-one services. They also have one Mental Health intern who started at the end of August, and a family therapist assigned to Camp Glenwood in September.

Describe Mental Health Screenings (setting, confidential, trained staff, access, etc.): Not all youth receive mental health screenings. If the probation officer or Judge orders a mental health screening, it is done by BHRS.

San Mateo County Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Commission
Juvenile Hall and Camp Inspection Report

Does the facility have a suicide prevention plan (Section 1329)? ☑ Yes □ No  Details: They have one that covers all three sites and conforms with Title 15 requirements.

Describe the 24/7 on-call mental health services: Staff can call a mental health clinician to talk to youth. There is an after hours on-call clinician available as well. If they can’t take care of the problem, they will transport youth. Dr. Dan Vermillion, who is a psychiatrist, sees any boys on meds.

Mental Health Summary and Comments: They’ve increased the hours of the BHRS clinician. A little more than ½ time. Boys go to the Hall for family therapy. Try to coordinate when they are at YSC for court.

Overall Impressions and Comments

● The camp program is in the midst of being reconfigured, but it is impressive as it is.
● Camp staff goes the extra mile to help youth find jobs they can begin when they leave the camp. Restarting craft training through Paxton Peterson this fall will broaden the employment possibilities for the boys.
● It is clear that Camp staff care about and have a good relationship with the boys.
● The County Office of Education is to be commended for a number of things:
  o 5-year WASC accreditation which is a major achievement. Credits from all three facilities’ schools are now transferable to four-year colleges.
  o Project Change which is a great resource for young people in all three facilities.
  o Partnership with Summit School
  o Youth commented that the “teachers really care about you.”
● The condition of the buildings has been substantially improved over the last few years. More improvements are planned, including new furnishings to make the facility more homelike.

Concerns

● It is taking a long time to get Internet access properly set up so that youth can be supervised and use the Internet. This should be a priority. Camp Glenwood youth are at a disadvantage in their schooling if opportunities to learn computer skills are not available to them.

ATTACHMENT 1: SCHOOL SUPPLEMENT

How/Where do students receive instruction when school is overcrowded or it is raining?
Since the school has not been at capacity for quite some time and as all pathways to classrooms are covered, this is not an issue at Camp Glenwood.

How many minutes of instruction per week do students receive?
Instructional minutes are in compliance with the requirements of the California Department of Education.

Do students attend school within three (3) days of placement? Yes.

How are limited English-speaking students identified and served? How soon are these services provided once the student has been identified as non-English proficient?
Students are identified as “English Learners” in a number of different ways. Individual student ELD status is often detailed in information received from the student’s previous school program as are the student’s most recent CELDT scores. This material is evaluated at the Youth Services Center and forwarded to the staff at Glenwood along with recommendations regarding ELD status prior to the student’s arrival at Glenwood. Should this material not be available, students would be screened at the Youth Services Center, at which time information regarding ELD status would be compiled and sent to the staff at Glenwood. Accordingly, Glenwood staff members are aware of individual student ELD status and needs at the time of their arrival. As noted during our inspection, the school staff and administration consider effectively serving English Learner students to be a critical component of future curricular planning. Accordingly, this population is featured prominently in the 2016-17 San Mateo County Office of Education LCAP document. At the present time, all Glenwood teachers are trained in the appropriate use of SDAIE techniques and all are CLAD certified.
