establish meaningful relationships with the youth and do their best to make it a comfortable education are made a top priority and in speaking to the youth, these programs have had a major impact on their progression.

Concerns

since last year.

Attachment 1: School Supplement

How many minutes of instruction per week do students receive?
1500 approx

Do students attend school within three (3) days of placement? Does the school create a preliminary education plan for each new student before the student attends school or once the student has started?
All residents of Kemp come from the Youth Services Center. The education plan is created during the first three days of orientation at YSC. The student attends classes at Kemp immediately upon placement there.

Are there difficulties obtaining transcripts from the student’s prior school? Are these typically received before or after the student has started attending school?
In the past there have been difficulties obtaining transcripts but this has been smoothed out due to the Orientation class implemented at Hillcrest (see the YSC report for further explanation). Transcripts are typically received before the student has started attending class at Kemp.

How are limited English-speaking students identified and served? How do these services provided once the student has been identified as non-English proficient?
Testing for English proficiency is administered during the 3-day orientation at YSC. At Camps, support is provided by paraprofessional; if English is really limited, may use Rosetta Stone to get youth’s proficiency higher.

Is credit recovery offered? Please describe.
Yes, credit recovery is offered. There is a central credit recovery teacher who reviews the individual student’s need for credit recovery and assigns work. The credit recovery vehicle is Starline Press packets.

Is homework assigned? When and where do students do homework?
Yes. Students work on their homework after school hours. GEP students can work on homework at home; Kemp residents can work on homework when they are back in the dorms.

How is transition back to a student’s home district handled?
A student’s Probation Officer and the court school’s counselor should work together to determine a transition plan. The student may or may not return to the district school that they were attending prior to being sentenced to Kemp. This decision is largely dependent upon the school district and can be based upon the charge, the youth’s academic record, the point of the academic school year and other factors.

Propose Areas of Commendation.
The curriculum developed by the temporary English instructor was designed to help the students think critically and increase their writing skills. The approach was effective.
The interactions between the teachers and students were excellent. The instructors were empathetic to the students’ anxieties and various reluctance and individually coached the students. In addition, for one student who had been out for a lot of the lesson, the teacher designed a special quiz that didn’t rely so heavily on the material she had missed. This level of individual attention is well-received at Kemp.
The restorative practices resource and counselor from Hillcrest come to Kemp at least once a week. The teachers really want this to continue as it has been beneficial.
The teaching staff reported feeling well-supported by the administration and the facility. They are given the freedom to work with the students and are provided resources when asked. The administration checks in frequently to make sure the teachers are doing well and their needs are met.
Teaching staff and facility staff work well together and support one another. This enables the school staff to be creative with teaching subjects in different ways, flexible with discipline when a student is not cooperative, and with enabling students to learn outside the facility (i.e., on field trips). The great relationship is to be commended.
Recommend Improvements:

For English-learners, there needs to be a more formal solution than what we have seen. In the classes we observed, one student was non-English-speaking. The teacher is commended for her creativity and coping by translating prompts using a translation program and reviewing the assignment using the same, but this is not adequate. In addition to formal instruction for English learners, there should be Spanish versions of the texts the teachers are using (at least one, probably more). After the inspection, the Court schools reported that they are in process of hiring staff to better support English-learners.

Consider expanding CTE and/or vocational options for Kemp students.

Explore tutors to assist the students with homework, projects or credit recovery. If there is time while the GEP students are still at Kemp, perhaps this would be a good time to provide the benefit to both the Kemp residents and the GEP students.

The girls would like to have more PE options. There is a lot of yoga, which some of the girls like, but they would appreciate more variety. After the inspection, the court schools reported that they have hired a dedicated credentialed PE teacher, which is a positive development. A dedicated PE teacher for the court schools should be prioritized, as the position has been eliminated in the past.

Student Interviews

Students were interviewed about their school experience while attending Court Schools. Five students were interviewed.

The best thing about this school is
I am getting a better education than in my normal school.
How much the teachers care.
That I’m allowed to keep going here even though I now live at home.
That it is linked up with Project Change at CSM.

Improvements I’d like to see made are
I’d like to listen to music during class.

I like that
The teachers are very patient. They help you individually after class if you don’t understand or have to miss class. I can do the credit recovery program and I like the credit recovery teacher.

I suggest that
We play basketball or other sports in P.E.

I’m concerned that
I don’t speak English, but I haven’t seen my ESL teacher yet and I’ve been here 3 weeks. I am not learning in class because my teacher tries to speak to me in Spanish, but she doesn’t speak well and just confuses me. (Translated from Spanish)

I wonder why
We don’t get tutoring.
